

GRADUATE STUDIES

Application Procedure

Applicants are requested to submit the following to the Registration Office:

- The completed application form
- A non-refundable registration fee of $130 US dollars (or equivalent in other currency). Applicants from abroad should enclose a postal order or a check made out to Tel Aviv University.
- An official certified copy of a B.A. diploma. Applicants who do not yet have their degree must enclose a document or proving their eligibility to obtain such a degree and forward the diploma itself to the Registration Office when it becomes available.

If an applicant is not yet entitled to receive a degree, confirmation of eligibility must be submitted as soon as it is available, but no later than August 15, 2015. This applies to all applicants, except candidates to the Faculty of Management, who should read the section about the faculty.

- Transcript of final undergraduate grades, or grade average, including an explanation of the scale of grades. At time of registration, candidates must send or attach a transcript as complete as possible. Acceptance is based on a final transcript.
- A notarized translation must accompany foreign documents in languages other than English.
- Curriculum vitae

Correspondence

All correspondence should be addressed to the Graduate Studies Unit in the Registration Office, indicating the Department in which the applicant is interested.

Admission Requirements

Applicants must have or expect to obtain, from an accredited university, a bachelor's degree equivalent to that awarded by Tel Aviv University.

- To qualify for registration a candidates must have attained a final minimum grade of "Good" (B/80) in their undergraduate studies (on the Israeli grade scale of 0-100 the minimum passing level is 60).

Several departments may have different or additional requirements.

- Knowledge of the Hebrew Language

Applicants who have not completed high school or university where the language of instruction is Hebrew must take the Hebrew Placement Examination and demonstrate a satisfactory command of Hebrew (See examination schedule).

In the following departments, knowledge of Hebrew is not an entrance requirement:

- Faculty of Life Sciences - all departments.
- Faculty of Engineering - all departments with the exception of Industrial Engineering (which requires knowledge of Hebrew).
- Exact Sciences – all departments except for Geophysics (which requires knowledge of Hebrew).
- Department of English and American Studies.
- School of Music – All departments except for Musicology (which requires knowledge of Hebrew).
- Neurosciences

- Knowledge of English

Applicants holding B.A. degrees from abroad (except from institutions where the language of instruction is English located in an English speaking country), must take the English Placement Exam before beginning their studies. They are obliged to reach the "Exempt" level by the beginning of their second year of studies.

Applicants should note that individual faculties and departments may have requirements in addition to the general University entrance requirements.

Candidates are notified by mail of the Admissions Committee's decision. Notices are sent out from June until the beginning of the academic year. All decisions are final.

Programs of Study

All master degree courses of study are single major programs and require at least two years for completion.

Applicants may list in order of preference three alternative fields of study.

To keep their options open, applicants should fulfill all the admissions requirements of their other choices regardless of whether notice of acceptance or rejection from another department has been received.

The language of instruction at Tel Aviv
University is Hebrew.
